PRESS RELEASE

Modus Operandi to Exhibit at Distributed Common Ground / Surface Systems (DCGS) Conference

MELBOURNE, Fla., March 26, 2007 – Modus Operandi, a leading software and information integration technology company, will be exhibiting during the Distributed Common Ground / Surface Systems (DCGS) Worldwide Conference and Expo on April 3 – 5, 2007, at the Norfolk Waterside Marriott Hotel and Convention Center in Norfolk, Va.

The DCGS Worldwide conference, co-sponsored by the U.S. Joint Forces Command, is returning after a three-year hiatus. Leading-edge communications, intelligence and networking mission-specific technologies will be featured during the conference and exposition. The Distributed Common Ground System is a collection of systems that will contribute to joint and combined warfighter needs for intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance (ISR) support.

Visit Modus Operandi in booth #202 to learn more about their software products and solutions that meet nationally compelling customer needs in areas of the global war on terrorism, national defense, space exploration, crisis management, and energy conservation. For more information about the conference, visit: <http://www.ncsi.com/dcgs07/index.shtml>.
