PRESS RELEASE

Modus Operandi Invited To Participate in Gartner Application Integration and Web Services Summit

MELBOURNE, Florida, Nov. 29, 2005 – Modus Operandi, a leading software and information integration technology company, has been invited to participate in the Gartner Application Integration and Web Services Summit being held December 5-7 in Orlando, FL. The Gartner summit will bring together technology experts to present the latest trends in software infrastructure and their effects on enterprise integration, web services and architecture initiatives. The main focus of this event will be on the benefits and pitfalls of implementing a Service-Oriented Architecture. Alan McCutchen, Modus Operandi's VP of Engineering will participate on the "Best Practices in Service-Oriented Architecture" case study panel sponsored by BEA Systems, Inc. Attendees at the conference will include chief information officers, architects, application development and integration leaders, IT managers and planners, software project leaders, database administrators, business analysts and consultants involved in software infrastructure initiatives. For more information on the conference, visit
