PRESS RELEASE

Former Intersil Executive Russ Morcom Joins Modus Operandi Board

MELBOURNE, Florida, March 4, 2002 –Modus Operandi, Inc. announced today the appointment of Mr. Russ Morcom to its Board of Directors.

Mr. Morcom is recently retired from Intersil, a manufacturer of high-end semiconductors, where his most recent assignment was to establish Intersil's European headquarters in Lausanne, Switzerland. Prior to this role, Mr. Morcom was a General Manager of various business Divisions within Intersil and Harris Corporation, where he was responsible for the engineering, marketing, sales and manufacturing functions.

Mr. Morcom holds Master's and Bachelor's degrees in Engineering Science from Florida State University, and is a graduate of the Harris Corporation/University of Florida MBA Core Program.

Said Modus Operandi Chairman Jack Hight, "Russ's background and energy level bring tremendous value to the Modus Operandi Board. I am very happy that Russ has agreed to join us."

About Modus Operandi

Modus Operandi is an enterprise collaboration solutions company. The company's solutions link people, processes, and systems – so that the client's entire enterprise operates as a single, well-oiled machine. The company's highly experienced teams and proven methods enable it to provide rapid, high quality, high ROI solutions. Modus Operandi is an IBM Certified for e-business - Business Partner and was named as 2001 Solution Partner of the Year by Borland Software Corporation.

The company's solutions address both the processes involved in effective collaboration as well as the key enabling technologies necessary for sharing of critical information. These solutions have consistently helped our clients address such challenges as accelerating the speed of business, improving profitability and reducing costs, dealing with the impact of technology, and increasing revenue by building stronger customer relationships, retaining good customers, and increasing share-of-customer.

The company's solutions are specifically targeted to processes and interactions that are highly information intensive. Such processes often rely on rich underlying collections of data, often maintained in disparate information systems. Some of the key business processes that can benefit from their solutions include planning, logistics, management, and product or service design and development.

The company provides solutions to business and government customers, and offers focused solutions to the electric utilities market. Offerings to the utilities market include power generation management for portfolios of generating assets, load management for large consumers of power, and enterprise integration to reduce costs and streamline utilities' operations.
